THE GLORIOUS ADVENTURE!

The glorious adventure of building a new and modern home can start now with these plans.

You who have always rented, or have been living in one of the older types of homes of your own, will find a wealth of desirable features in the plans shown in this plan book—ideas that will mean more comfort and joy, and all the new conveniences that make the modern home so superior to those of an older day.

These designs, prepared by competent architects specializing in small homes, are outstanding examples of the best ideas in modern home construction—good architectural styles, practical floor arrangements, substantial construction, and economy in building—and offer a pleasing variety from which to select.

Building without complete and definite plans and specifications thoroughly worked out and agreed upon leaves too much chance for misunderstanding, faulty construction, and extras in labor and materials which changes might make necessary.

Because home building involves a major investment, the plans for your home should be selected with care before you start building. Blueprints and specifications for any design shown in this book may be obtained from your lumber dealer or from the publishers of this book.

BLUEPRINTS AND SPECIFICATIONS AVAILABLE

One of the vitally important building tools is a good set of working plans and specifications. To prevent disappointments and unforeseen extra costs, furnish your builder with our complete Blueprints and Specifications. These are . . .

ARCHITECTURAL BLUEPRINTS that show all the details necessary to the builder who constructs the house, including four elevations, wall section, floor plans, foundation plan and cupboard details. They are available on short notice—they are shipped the day your order is received.

CAREFULLY PREPARED SPECIFICATIONS that cover every particular of what you will receive in materials and workmanship, that give you a full knowledge of exactly what you are getting . . . so that you can save money . . . save time . . . eliminate misunderstandings . . . have a better built home . . . know the final cost without a bill of extras.

THESE ARE TESTED PLANS. There is no need for a special architect when you are using our stock plans and layouts which have been used many times in various parts of the country. You get a better house because all of the common structural errors have been removed. All plans conform to the general requirements of the F.H.A.

BUILD YOUR HOME THE EFFICIENT WAY. Order the necessary working blueprints and specifications through your Dealer or from the Publishers of this book now. Ordinarily three sets of blueprints are needed—one for the contractor, one for filing with the building department or lending agency, and one for yourself.

Six Rooms

18,700 Cubic Feet

The Watson

THE Watson is an attractive Cape Cod variation ably adapted to a small foundation. By ingenious planning the rooms are spacious and fitted with many closets. For informal meals there is a comfortable dining nook. Off the kitchen is a downstairs toilet. In addition, a fireplace and three bedrooms make this moderate cost home most desirable.

Classification 168-541
Basement Volume 6,000 ft.
Main Volume 12,500 ft.

Six Rooms and Dining Alcove

22,600 Cubic Feet

The Wheeler

THE Colonial style of the Wheeler is varied by the use of wide siding for the first story and narrow siding for the second story. The bay window adds greatly to its charm.

The big surprise is the ample proportions throughout the Wheeler—yet its overall dimensions are only 28' x 27'.

Seven Rooms and Dinette

23,200 Cubic Feet

The Redfield

BUILT around the family, the Redfield is comfortably ample in all eight rooms. Only Colonial design can be so full of rich appeal, yet remain within a modest budget. Salient points:

central stair-hall, full-length living room, closed porch, breakfast room, down-stairs lavatory, plentiful closets, four bedrooms, and airing deck.

Seven Rooms and Garage

25,400 Cubic Feet

The Sargent

A CAPTIVATING Early American home has been very neatly blended with the modern addition of an attached garage. Seven grand rooms and a stair hall have made thrifty use of the surprising dimensions of the Sargent—only 26'x30' foundation.

The first floor lavatory opens onto a rear hall which also serves the kitchen, basement, and adjoins the entrance to the attached garage.

This plan is a rare find—offering so much room, and done so gracefully (including a fireplace), at much less expense than casually estimated. The Sargent is comfortably scaled, up-to-the-minute in convenience, yet contains no extravagant frills.

The Sterling

FIVE ROOMS AND GARAGE

24,600 CUBIC FEET

So you want a house with an attached garage, and you like bedrooms detached from the rest of the house, with two sided views! You will find all this and a dinette too in the Sterling. The unique shutter treatment of the door spells welcome as clearly as if it were lettered on a mat.

Classification (163-431)
Basement Volume 8,500 Ft.
Main Volume 11,000 Ft.

The Sperry

FOUR ROOMS AND GARAGE

23,400 CUBIC FEET

THE bay window, the fireplace, and the vestibule intensify the cozy atmosphere of the sizable living room. To atone for the smaller space the dinette is converted into adequate countered dining quarters. The closets remain commodious and well-placed.

Classification (161-171)
Basement Volume 8,000 Ft.

The Fulton

THE basic economy and roomy comfort of the Dutch Colonial is especially in evidence in the Fulton. The plans are particularly considerate of housekeeping requirements, with front and rear halls. Sound in every respect, the Fulton carefully checks moderate expense with sound construction practice.

The Bankhead

THE dignity and simplicity of the American Colonial afford luxury at a low cost. An interesting note is added to the exterior by the attached garage. Informal dining space in the kitchen and a downstairs lavatory to save steps are among the conveniences of the first floor. The large rooms adapt themselves splendidly to attractive furniture arrangements.

In harmony with the design of the house is a regal stairway which one climbs to find not only three large bedrooms with more than ample closets, a linen closet, and a cedar closet—but also a bath complete with vanity table and shower stall.

The steady popularity of the American Colonial is justified by this latest of versions of a perennial favorite.

Classification 979-350

FIVE ROOMS

25,100 CUBIC FEET

The Billingsley

THE careful economy of the Billingsley is endowed with beauty and character by the hospitable treatment of the entrance, and this graciousness is carried on even further in the interior.

The vestibule harbors the living room against unpleasant weather outside, and the fireplace adds charm and comfort. In the dining room is a pleasant window arrangement flanked by corner cabinets. The kitchen is carefully planned to save unnecessary steps.

The sleeping quarters are thoughtfully set off by a hall, and each of the two bedrooms has a commodious closet.

Six Rooms and Porch

20,780 Cubic Feet

The Buckingham

A DELIGHTFUL bit of exterior design takes command of the Buckingham, in keeping with American Colonial simplicity. The interior is enviable in generous details designed with a careful eye on costs . . . three bedrooms, screened porch with deck above, dinette, extra closets. The Buckingham affords individuality without paying a penalty.

21,500 CUBIC FEET

The Piedmont

THE slight overhang of the second floor and shuttered windows above represent a Colonial treatment that dresses up simple design much beyond actual cost. The trim on the landscape windows perfects the view. Not as ambitious as six ample rooms might convey, the Piedmont has made the most of good basic design. Huge closets, lavatory, breakfast nook, and airing deck are included.

The Berwick

COMMON brick and Cape Cod design conspire to achieve six charming rooms in good proportions—far more than usually confined within such conservative foundation dimensions. Full length of the house, the living room is exceptionally attractive; the fireplace is balanced by a delightful bay window. Attic storage is accessible through the second bedroom. The Berwick is outstanding for real economy and character in design.

The Fremont

THE basic reason behind the high favor for the Dutch Colonial points to the large capacity second floor permitted by the characteristic roof design. The first floor is complete with an extra closet and lavatory off the rear hall. Features throughout the house have been more generously planned in the Fremont than appear from judging by the actual construction cost.

For a wide lot this ranch-type home meets the desire for a comfortable interior and an attractive and beautiful exterior. The L shaped living and dining room providing convenient wall space for furniture, the well arranged kitchen at the front of the house and the fenced-in patio are outstanding features of this charming home.

Six Rooms

19,800 Cubic Feet

The Aldrich

SUBSTANTIAL character stands out in the Aldrich . . . and almost conceals Colonial modesty in building cost. But compare the generous rooms with foundation dimensions.

Noteworthy: downstairs lavatory, airing balcony, modern and compact kitchen, two closets in master bedroom, and a grand living room.

FIVE ROOMS

14,000 CUBIC FEET

The Washburn

ONE of the first considerations in building your home is how your furniture will fit into the scheme of things, and the substantial living room of the Washburn is the solution. It is reached by a single hall entrance, and thus it has desirable seclusion.

The simple architecture of this delightful Cape Cod is fundamental to its grace, which is carried over into the interior with beguiling ingenuity. This is a home adapted to a small foundation of which you can be really proud, for nothing about it betrays its tiny cost.

The Linwood

SIX rooms probably fit more economically and attractively into the two-story Colonial house than in any other. The Linwood bears out this belief. Upstairs, two closets are found in the master bedroom, with an attic stairway rising from one. The Linwood sets on a foundation of less size than expected; and for all the room within, it meets a modest budget.

The Newkirk

DISTINCTION and thrift are inseparable elements of American Colonial construction. Brick and clapboards are in the best expression of that style, as displayed by the Newkirk. Corner china cabinets conserve floor space in the dining room and efficiency is the keynote of the kitchen layout. Extra closets feature this plan; observe the usual closets plus a coat closet, kitchen closet, rear hall closet, and twin closets in the master bedroom. Housing a family in contentment and within reasonable building costs is the achievement of the Newkirk.

FINANCING YOUR HOME

How should you go about financing your home? In the first place, you should know what price you can afford to pay for a home and how much you can comfortably pay each month in paying for it. The most advantageous plan for home financing provides for monthly payments on principal and interest over a given period of time, from 10 to 25 years. This is a painless, sensible way to pay for a home in easy installments just like rent, and in some cases actually cheaper than rent.

The following charts have been designed to eliminate the necessity of calculations in determining the equal monthly payment necessary to pay off a loan of a given size. The interest rate in Table A is 4%, and the interest rate in Table B is 4½%, and for terms from 10 to 25 years. The payment shown in the table is the minimum uniform payment necessary to pay off the loan completely within the stipulated time.

MONTHLY PAYMENT TABLES

Showing monthly payment of interest and principal required to pay off a loan completely within a given number of years.

WHY YOU SHOULD BUILD NOW!

Home ownership is the best investment for the average person. At the end of a given period of time, he has a clear title to a piece of property which will always have a market value. All authorities agree that the trend in residential construction costs will be upward. It will pay to build now.

The table to the right shows what rent amounts to in ten, fifteen and twenty years with 6% interest, compounded annually, and gives an idea of the value of the house one can pay for by applying the rent-paying habit to the task of purchasing a home.

APPROXIMATE COSTS

The cost of a home varies in different parts of the country, depending on local conditions, the quality of materials used in building and the specifications.

Every home design shown in the plan books of the Home Plan Book Company carries a classification number set in inconspicuous type directly under each design, thus:

CLASSIFICATION (161-171)

To arrive at the approximate cost of that design, drop the first and last numeral, disregard the hyphen, and the number will then read 6117 which is the approximate cost in dollars of that home on a pre-war price basis. If you estimate the cost of the same design at present prices and note the percentage that the present cost differs from the above price, you can apply this percentage to approximate cost shown by the Classification Number of any design shown in the plan books of the Home Plan Book Company. In order to arrive at the exact cost in your locality and according to your own specifications, consult your local dealer or contractor.

A WORD ABOUT “G. I.” LOANS

The Servicemen's Readjustment Act (commonly called the “G. I.” Bill of Rights) includes provisions for the most extensive home procurement program on record. It gives the returning serviceman the most economical home financing plan ever offered anyone. Servicemen are urged to contact their local dealer, lending agency or the nearest office of the Veteran's Administration for complete details.
